SENATOR HOAR

Is Opposed to the Acquisition of Territory.

Massachusetts Statesman Against His Party's Policy.

At a campaign meeting at Worcester, Mass., last week in a speech the venerable Senator said:

"This year has been crowded with history and crowded with glory. It is also to my mind crowded with danger. The flag of Spain, formerly the proudest power on the globe since the day of the Roman Empire, has gone down in darkness and in blood before the victorious navy and army of the United States. The flag of the United States has arisen in the Eastern sky like a new constellation. Let us not accept the duties and responsibilities of this victory in any temper of vulgar vainglory, still less of vulgar greed of power or of gain. The United States comes to these oppressed people, East and West, as a great deliverer. To deal with this great commission by talking about coal-mining and trade advantages degrades it. We have not overthrown Spain, we have not perilled the precious lives of our sons that we may add to our possessions, or that we may make money out of our new relations. But yet the duty of the American people is to themselves, and when I say this I say it in the spirit of self-interest or of indifference to the welfare of mankind.

"On the contrary, I believe that the highest service the American people can render to mankind and to liberty is to preserve unshaken and unchanged the republic as it came to us from the fathers. It is by example and not by guile or by bayonets that the great work of America for humanity is to be accomplished. And in my opinion war is today in a great danger—greater danger than we have encountered since the pilgrims landed at Plymouth. The danger is that we are to be transformed from a republic founded on the Declaration of Independence, guided by the counsels of Washington, into a vulgar, common-law empire founded upon physical force.

"I, for one, am not desirous by the example of England. The institutions of England which have enabled her to govern successfully distant colonies and subject states are founded, as Mr. Gladstone pointed out, on the doctrine of equality. If we are to outstrip England in national power it must be by pursuing our own path and not by following in hers.

"It is said that Porto Rico is already ours. It may be that Porto Rico is to become ours. But there is no authority under the Constitution of the United States to acquire any foreign territory save by a treaty approved by the Senate by a two-thirds vote or by an act of legislation in which the President, the House of Representatives and the Senate must unite. It is said the Philippine Islands are already ours by the right of conquest. For one, I deny this alleged right of conquest. Human beings—men, women, children, people—are not to be won as spoils of war or prizes in battle. It may be that such a doctrine finds a place in the ancient and barbarous laws of war, but it has no place under the American Constitution. It has no place in the code of morals of the people of the United States. I have stated elsewhere the conditions, which, in my judgment, warranted the acquisition of Hawaii. Hawaii came to us with the consent of her own Government, the only Government capable of maintaining itself there for any considerable length of time. In the case of the Philippines we are asked to subject a nation and to hold it in subjection. We get them by conquest and hold them by force. In the case of the Hawaiian Islands we get them by compact made with their lawful Government.

"Some of our good friends have said, thoughtlessly, in their zeal, when the American flag goes it must stay. But surely they cannot wish to commit the country to that doctrine. We planted it on the City of Mexico. But no man dreamed that it should stay there. If the war goes on we shall plant it on the coast of Spain, but we have no desire to hold permanent dominion there.

"If the Philippine Islands become ours then, under the late decision of the Supreme Court, every child born here is born in them becomes an American citizen—from to come, free to go. Are you going to hold them as subjects? Are you going to have a trained and governing class? Are you going to have the national tax gatherer the most frequent and most known visitor to every American house? Are you going to increase many fold your national debt? These things are involved in the will which is imposed on us for empire. For myself, I disbelieve and hate the notion that the American people are to submit to such a transformation."

Love and Women.

One must love several times before learning how to win love.

It is absurd to be deliberate about love—love is spontaneous.

A beautiful woman would be a success if she had not any idea in her head.

Love is the most selfish of sentiments. Its demands are so very exacting.

The greatness of many a man is merely the possession of a clever wife.

A woman is often obedient to the man she hates, and obedient to the man she loves.

Love a woman with an intellect if you want to be wretched; marry one if you want to be successful.

Roll of Honor.

The following is the roll of honor for third month of school in district No. 4:

Beall Hadden, Jimmie Adamson, Elsie Parrish, Harry Wright, John Bryant, Mary E. Weatt, Jennie Barnett, Clay Thomson, Mollie Allen, Lindsey Dingman, Emerson Conner, Notts Berkley, Nannie Berkley, Charlie Berkley, Maud Duh.

ANNA BARREN, Teacher.

HONORS IN THE FAR EAST.

A Kentuckian Made President of a University by an Emperor.

Dr. W. A. P. Martin, writing to his brother, Dr. C. H. Martin, of Louisville, from Peking, China, under date of September 9, says: "Last year, as you may remember, I received the presidency of a new university at Shanghai, because I did not like to leave Peking or go to a hot climate. As it is a university in both halves, the Emperor has ordered a Grand Central University to be established in Peking and made me President of it, entering at the same time the R. d. House and decorations of the second of the nine grades, a position which I shall enjoy more as showing appreciation of my service than a salary.

"The Emperor has given me the place of a deceased Prince as a temporary abode. It is a fine old building and is being fitted at great expense. As soon as it is ready we shall go in and open our classes—probably about November 1.

"The most attractive feature about the university is the fact that it leads the way to a full technical revolution. The creation of a system of graded schools in all the provinces and the conferring of honors and offices for real knowledge, rather than as heretofore for superficial attainments."

Send the Light.

"Can we, whose souls are lighted With wisdom from on high, Can we to men benighted The lamp of life deny? Salvation, O salvation! The herald sound proclaim! Till each remotest nation Has learned Christ's redeeming name!"

These lines of Bishop Heber give the exact situation. We have the light, we must therefore send it to others. To do otherwise is to be selfish and sinful. If we are honest, we must pay our debt, for we are debtors to Greeks and barbarians, and we are held responsible for the debt. Alas, by the millions, are doing in darkness; and they will continue to do so until we go with the light, or send it to them.

The Sun

may shine brightly and the birds may sing the sweetest songs but if your stomach is not right there is no happiness for you. Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the house and use it according to directions and the sun and birds will not shine and sing in vain. Constipation and indigestion cured. Trial size 10c (10 doses) and in 50c and $1 bottles at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

Character.

We describe men by the offices they hold, the reputation they have, the money they can command, but these are but the merest accidents. The man is not what he has or what men say of him, but what he is. The chief fact about a man is the man himself. There is something inside the circle of circumstances, underneath his words, behind his deeds, and that something is character.—Rev. C. W. Gillette.

The Control of Satan.

Sin is an awful thing. It always works destruction, brings sorrow and leads to death. The only safe way for men to stand sin as dangerous, because it strengthens evil habits and puts the sinner under the control of Satan.—Rev. P. C. Carnick.

The street car track has been found to be a new company composed of local capitalists, for a number of years, with an option to purchase and during the term. The track is being reconstructed, new cars have been ordered and the cars will be running in ten to fifteen days. Sam Hastings has charge of this branch of the work. They will be run by horse power for a while, but the electric cars will be running soon in view of an electric light plant, in view of the fact that the S. W. Wells sold to Fidelity V. M. Co. 44 acres of land adjoining the town of the latter at $7400 per acre.

What is known as the Trust school on the Mt. Sterling place, near the Mt. Sterling county line, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Monday night. All the furniture and the books of the children were also burned. A vacant house was rented by the trustees, and Miss Katie Thibault, who had charge of the school before the fire, moved into the new building. The fire originated in a house probably from a defective flue. There was no fire alarm in the building.

Miss, Ernest Frazee, of Dayton, Ohio, and Aaron Archibald, of Louisville, were here this week, and will, in all probability, begin the publication of a Republican paper in this city January 1st. They are the representatives of a syndicate, and in connection with their printing and publishing business here will establish a Republican paper office at Dayton, Ohio, and also one at Parisville, Johnson county. They are experienced newspaper men and their Eastern Kentucky is a promising field.

Never Thanked Him

Mr. Moody told the following story at his last mission:

Some years ago I heard of a poor mother who had an only child who was idiotic and on the day when it was fourteen years of age a neighbor came in and found the mother weeping in the bitterness of her soul. She wanted to know what was the matter.

The mother said: For fourteen years I have cared for that child day and night; I have given up society and spent my time with that child and today it does not know me from you. If that child would recognize me once, it would pay for all I have done for it.

How many are there the sons of God who have been cared for and nursed by you? And you have never recognized Him, you have never looked up into His face and said, "Thank you, Lord Jesus."

The Kentucky River to be Bridged at Jackson

"The long looked-for and wished for bridge has at last arrived, having come up Saturday night, and was viewed Sunday by many of our enthusiastic people who look forward with preceptible eagerness to the day and hour when this magnificent structure shall span the majestic and scenic river that has been endowed with the name of our proud commonwealth.

Of Judge J. Wise Hagine, for his untiring efforts and successful accomplishments, too much cannot be said for had we not such a county judge as he, with his energy and progressiveness, we would have been doomed for years to plod through mud and snow to and fro from city to station.

The Judge is worthy of this compliment.

Despite the censored cable accounts there is said to be great suffering among the poor of Havana. Business at a standstill over the delay of American control and uncertainty about the new tariff, and many persons are consequently out of employment. The Cuban Committee has drawn up a petition to President McKinley which will probably be laid before the American Commissioners asking that a sum for relief be raised and charged to the Cuban revenue for repayment.

The Maria Teresa, a great Spanish warship, which was sunk in the battle near Santiago harbor, and which had recently been raised by Hobson, and was being taken to New York, encountered a storm off the Bahama Islands. The storm was too great for the ship, disabled by American guns, and through her rent hull water entered. She went down in water nearly three miles deep. The entire crew was saved and landed at another port by the transport Merced. Thus forever disappears the wreck of the remnant of the Spanish fleet.

"Tom Ruess's Marriage" a very interesting story, written by William Lightfoot Vischer appeared in Sunday's Courier-Journal.

Gov. Bradley on Thursday afternoon refused to extend Executive clemency in the case of Tully D. Arnold, of Henry county, convicted of disturbing religious worship. In passing on the petition the Governor wrote as follows: "The fact that the defendant is one of those unfortunate persons who cannot resist the temptation to get drunk, and that whilst in a drunken condition he disturbed an assembly of persons engaged in religious worship, furnishes the very best reason why he should not be pardoned."

Bride's Hats.

In some parts of the country, notably Tennessee and Kentucky, is a class of people commonly known as moonshiners. They are a peculiar people—near to nature's heart sort of people—extremely faithful one to another, their law being mainly that of a good Winchester rifle aimed with a steady hand and clear eye. Their land as a rule is rocky and bad—as moonshining or plainly the making of corn whiskey is done in the mountains—or knobs. "Knobs" being the foothills of the mountains and about all they can raise is corn. It is a God-given privilege to grow corn and to give it to generation among them, this right to manufacture this moonshine whiskey, so called because by fear of "Gov'menters," their arch enemies, they work in some hidden nook by the light of the moon. When one comes to think of it it is a wonder that some of our playrights have not taken advantage of this class of people, the beautiful mountain scenery and this religion to make a play of the new. In "Knobs O'Tennessee," the best of the Grand Old plays by the American authors, Lincoln and Carter, and Hal Reid, have used this theme, and have made an eleven curtain call hit orit. Gratton Boy 2:08, trotting and Palmyra Boy 2:07½, pacing, are two of the five colts sired by Gratton 2:13, the season of 1892. The performances—and both records were made in races—make Gratton the only eleven-year-old stallion with two in 2:08 trot.

M. E. McHenry and Thomas Keating are said to have pooled their interests for the campaign of 1890, creating as a result an inviolable reputation as a gainer and conditioner among Eastern horsemen this year through his remarkable success with Dione 2:09½ and the pacer Searchlight, Auscanda 2:04½ and Katsawala 2:05½, but his health has not permitted him to drive the great quartette in a great many of their races. McHenry, on the other hand, ranks as the equal of any race driver ever seen in a sulky, and his work with Keating's horses has been as brilliant.

The Almighty Dollar.

This is the age of money. The idol is the almighty dollar. Get wealth, no matter how, only so you get it, is the cry. It is power and it conceals a multitude of faults. Children are absorbing the evil estimate of greatness, and are preferring it to education, and even character. The rich are being stunted by it, and the poor are being made mad by it. The world needs to see that life is more than wealth. —Rev. Leo S. McClellan.

Womanhood.

Let women have every advantage of the higher education and culture, but let all these advantages be employed to make her more womanly. Anything that is calculated to diminish the power of the delicate feminine quality which redness and purities is not an advantage; it is a positive detriment, not alone to woman but to the race. The womanly element has been a saving influence of mankind. —David Phillips.

Bribery.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Draper's Sister Sat Thirty Minutes For Her Portrait.

Elizabeth Flint Wade has an illustrated paper on "Photography—In Marvels" in St. Nicholas. The author says: The first accounts of this great discovery are of very entertaining reading. Professor Moore, the inventor of the photograph, was in Paris when the news was published, and at once went to see Daguerre's wonderful pictures. In describing them afterward he said that nothing made so much impression on the plates for a picture taken of a crowded boulevard showed it as if entirely deserted, with the exception of a man having his shoes polished. The man's feet, he said, were well defined, because they were kept stationary, but he was without head or body, for these were in motion.

To America belongs the honor of making the first photographic portrait, the artist being Professor John Draper, a professor and afterward the president of the University of New York. His victim was his sister, Miss Catherine Draper. He powdered her face, that the lightness might be more quickly impressed on the sensitive plate, and for 30 minutes Miss Draper sat—or, at least, tried to sit—as immovable as a statue.

The first class in photography was formed in Boston in the spring of 1840. Daguerre's "Grand Central" of Paris. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, then a student in Harvard, became an enthusiastic member of the class. In his diary, under date of April 1, 1840, in this entry: "On my way home I stopped at the shop and got my daguerrotype taken. There seems to be a great demand; there were three or four others there."

THE RICH RUSSIAN.

He Has a Weakness For an Army of Forty Servants.

We were a family of 8, occasionally of 10 or 12, says Prince Kropotkin in The Atlantic, but 50 servants at Moscow, and half as many more in the country, were considered not one too many. Four coaches to attend a dozen horses, three cooks for the masters and two more for the servants, a dozen men to wait upon at dinner time—no man, plate in hand, standing behind each master seated at the table—and girls innumerable in the midday room, but how could any one do with less than this?

Being, the ambition of every landed proprietor was that everything required for his household should be made at home by his "own" men.

"How nicely your piano is always tuned," I suppose Herr Kropotkin must be your "own" one of the visitors would remark.

To be able to answer, "I have my own piano tuner," was in those times the correct thing.

"How beautiful your party!" the guests would exclaim when a work of art, composed of food and poetry, appeared toward the end of the dinner. "Confess, that it came from Tremble!" (the fashionable party cook).

"It is my own confectioner, a pupil of Tremble, whom I have allowed to show what he can do," was the reply which elicited general admiration.

To have embroidery, harness, furniture—in fact everything—made by one's "own" men was the ideal of the rich and respected landed proprietor.

Diagrams as Dr. Jekyll.

No greater contrast could possibly be imagined than that which existed between the Diagram of private life and the Diagram of politics. "In the former," writes a correspondent who knew him well, "he was perfectly charming, easy going and good natured. He was passionately fond of children, and I have seen him over and over again have a game with the little ones of his garden, who were very familiar with him and would not hesitate to climb upon his knees."

"Once when his gardener's little girl died the great statesman went to console with him. He was dreadfully upset and while holding the poor father's hand burst into tears, for he was very fond of the child. He kissed the little corpse and himself placed a bunch of roses in its hand. He was always eager to assist his poorer neighbors and enjoyed playing with them on all subjects but politics. These he never mentioned." —London Chronicle.

If there is any person to whom you feel dislike, that is the person of whom you ought never to speak. —Ocell.

Where Money Is Very Mixed.

Although all accounts are kept in dollars and cents (American standard) in British Guiana, there is no existing colony to correspond. Gold is rarely tendered, all larger sums being handled in bank notes, kept to long in circulation that they become almost unrecognizable in their dilapidated fragments.

The silver coinage consists of the most inconspicuous varieties. Besides British a number of coins, fractions and multiples of the "guilder," enter largely into circulation. These are known as the "bit" (4d.), "half bit," the "two bits," the "guilder" (being 33 cents, or 1s. 4d.), and even a peculiar three half penny piece is still extant, although eagerly sought for by collectors.

All these coins are of great and interesting variety, incident on the transfer of the colony from the Dutch and the one distinct government of Barbados and Demerara and Essequibo, long since amalgamated.

Of copper coins the penny is known as a "gill," while the humble brass becomes a "cent." Particulars were once introduced, but were regarded with contempt and suspicion, except by a few Chinamen, who succeeded in passing them in their brightness for half silver coins.

To instance the confusion refer to 185d. is very described as "the" and a half and a gill and a cent.

Parents Are Fair to Teachers.

"That existing methods of educating the young fall short of the ideal there is scarcely any question," writes Edward Hale in The London Home Journal. "The most prominent educators of the land admit this fact. Every effort is being made to better prevailing systems. But the fault is single handed. As teachers and educators constantly say: 'We are alone. Parents give us no assistance. They do not even give us the benefit of criticism.' And this is true—lamentably true. Parents are all too lax about the methods pursued in educating their children. In hundreds of cases they do not even know what the methods are. They know nothing about them. There is no cooperation of the parent with the teacher. However much we may be able to improve modern methods of education, the best results to our children cannot be reached until parent and teacher shall come into closer relation than they are at present."

Miss Goff was a native of Shelby county and had been resident of Georgetown for only two years, but during this short period everybody who met her had learned to love her.

BLEVINS-PAYNE.

In this city at the residence of Mr. Joe C. Turley on Saturday evening, November 5, 1898, Mr. W. H. Blevis and Miss Marcia A. Payne were united in marriage by Bruce W. Trimble. The groom is the son of Chas. E. Blevis and is a farmer in the Pecked Oak neighborhood. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Geo. W. Payne, of Steptone, and a twin sister to Miss Mattie. She is a member of the Corinthian Christian Church and is a most excellent and attractive young woman. After the ceremony they went to the home of the groom's brother, George Blevis. In a few days they will make a short visit to friends in Madison county, after which they will go to Oklahoma their future home. Our best wishes for success and happiness attend them.

The explosion Saturday in the Sharpsburg Roller Mills resulted in little damage and a great scare. One colored employe was badly skinned, though not seriously injured.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. T. S. Hubert is holding a series of meetings at the Methodist church in Hickmoad.

Rev. Lancaster, of Carlisle, is assisting Pastor Chaudier at his church in Sharpsburg in a protracted meeting.

The Baptist Argus will, within the next few days, move from its present quarters on Jefferson street, Louisville, Ky.

The protracted meeting at the Christian church at Ford continues with unabated interest. Eld. Samuel M. Bernard, minister of the Parkland church, Louisville, is conducting the meeting.

Rev. H. A. Stewart, the preacher formerly in charge of the colored Methodist church at Winchester, now has charge of the Grassy Lick and Clark's Chapel circuit with headquarters in this city.

Rev. Edward Stubbfield, who has been called to the pastorate of the Sharpsburg Baptist church, formally accepted last Sunday and has entered upon his work. We feel confident Mr. Stubbfield will be successful in his work. He is a bright young man, a fine preacher, and is thoroughly imbued with the duties of his calling.

The Baptist Book Concern and Western Recorder office have moved from the corner of Third and Jefferson streets, Louisville, to 642 Fourth avenue, more commodious quarters. Not a word was said to us about it, but this is what we concluded from observation (we may be wrong), that not far in the future we would have in the city of Louisville the Southern Baptist Publication Society's work executed by this firm, instead of Nashville, Tenn., and that our beloved Dr. J. M. Frost would be returned to his native State, where he would live to influence his own people to follow him as he follows the precepts of our Master.

Rev. Austin P. Finley, of Montgomery county, an ex-Eminence College boy, occupied the pulpit of the Christian Church Sunday morning and night. His discourse in the morning was listened to with profound attention, but at night when there was union service his efforts surpassed all expectations. Many complimentary motions were made of his discourse by members of his audience irrespective of denomination. There was evidence both of student life and logical ability as well as of spiritual concern. The pastor had exchanged pulpits with Mr. Finley thus affording him an opportunity to see his old friends and at the same time gratifying the audience.—The Constitutionalist, Eminence.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. have invited the ministers of the city to preach a sermon or deliver an address on temperance. In compliance with such request, Rev. H. D. Clark on Sunday evening at the Christian Church, preached a most excellent sermon which should rouse every man and woman who heard it, to active work in opposition to the great foe of society—the saloon. Its blighting influence in the social, moral, religious, commercial and political world is appalling. It must be combatted and put down or before it will fill the lives and purity of many homes, the love of many thousands year by year; commercial prosperity and honor, and even the existence of our government if the corrupting influence is not stopped. The speaker is bold and fearless in opposing wrong-doing, and yet earnest and tender in his sympathies for and appeals to men to turn away from evil.

He assails the licensing power of State and Nation, and knows that the constituted authorities are humiliated by accepting revenue for permits to carry on the traffic. We regret that we cannot print in full this sermon, for such sentiments should be proclaimed throughout the land. Arrangements will no doubt be made for the repetition of the sermon at the Court House on some court day in the near future. We publicly express to Bro. Clark our appreciation of his labors in behalf of righteousness.

It is said that if the "voice" of an elephant were as loud in proportion as that of a nightingale his trumpeting could be heard around the world.

Mr. F. W. H. Peckham will take your orders for Honaker's prize chrysanthemums and roses.

Deadly Cancer Cured at Last!

Do Not Give Up In Despair—There is Hope!

For ages it has been thought that Cancer is incurable, and those so unfortunate as to have this dreadful affliction have considered themselves beyond hope of recovery. The doctors are absolutely unable to afford any relief, and the poor sufferer might well consider himself on the way to an early grave.

It is now easy to see why the doctors have failed to cure Cancer. Their theories have been all wrong, and hence their treatment misdirected. They have made the mistake of thinking that by cutting out the sore or ulcer, known as Cancer, the disease would be gotten rid of, and the patient returned to health. But the cruel knife accomplishes nothing, for the Cancer promptly returns, and is always more virulent than before.

It has been demonstrated, beyond doubt, that Cancer is a blood disease, and can not be cured by the surgeon's knife because the blood can not be cut away.

"Several years ago my wife had an ulcer on her tongue, which, though annoying, was not regarded seriously at first. It refused to heal and began to grow, giving her much pain. The doctors treated it for quite a while but were unable to do her any good, and finally pronounced it Cancer of a most malignant type. We were greatly alarmed and gave her every remedy recommended, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and it continued to spread and grow. Upon the advice of a friend she began to take S. S. S. and after a few bottles had been used a decided improvement was noticed, and continuing the remedy she was cured completely and the permanence of the cure has been proved, as no sign of the disease has returned, though ten years have elapsed. H. L. NIMMENCROSS, Sierra, Cal."

The cures made by S. S. S. are permanent. It is the only blood remedy which can cure obstinate deep-seated blood diseases, because it is the only one which acts on the correct principle of the system of it forever.

S. S. S. never fails to cure the worst cases of Cancer, Scrophulous, Catarrhs, Eczema, Contagious Blood Poison, Rheumatism, old sores, ulcers, etc. It matters not what other remedies have been used in vain. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed.

Purely Vegetable and contains not a particle of potash, mercury, arsenic or other minerals. Valuable looks on Cancer and Blood Diseases will be mailed free to any address by Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.
